* Your approved credit is not a commitment to loan funds. It is based on the value of your Investment account which could change daily. The amount you may be eligible to borrow may differ from your approved credit. Borrowing against securities has its risks and is not appropriate for everyone. If the value of your collateral declines, you may be required to deposit cash or additional securities, or the securities in your account may be sold to meet the margin call. The interest rate will vary depending on the amount borrowed and will begin to accrue from the date of the loan and be charged to the account. A minimum account value is required if you have loan features on your account. Call your financial advisor today.

The Importance of Updating Your Estate Plan

There's never a bad time to update your estate plan. But given the upcoming changes to estate tax laws, updating your plan is more important than ever.

As the law now stands, there is no federal estate tax in 2010. In 2011, the estate tax is scheduled to return, with an exemption amount of $1 million and a top rate of 55%.

Remember, your estate taxes depend on the size of your estate. But no matter the value of your assets, you'll want to have your estate plan in order.

First, you'll need a will. You'll also want to make sure you've named the proper beneficiaries in all your legal documents. Next, work with your tax and legal professionals and Edward Jones financial advisor to review your financial strategy. During this review, look for options to potentially reduce your estate taxes, which may include the following:

- Taking Advantage of Your Exemptions — You and your spouse each receive an exemption from the federal estate tax. To help maximize these exemptions, consider creating a credit shelter trust for your surviving spouse and beneficiaries.
- Using Life Insurance — Consider creating an irrevocable life insurance trust (ILIT) with a new insurance policy to help keep the life insurance proceeds out of your taxable estate.
- Giving Generously — To help reduce your estate, you can give up to $13,000 per year to as many individuals as you want without incurring gift taxes. You can also make gifts to charitable organizations.

Keep in mind that estate planning can be complex. It's essential you work with your legal and tax professionals, as well as your Edward Jones financial advisor, before establishing any type of trust or other estate-planning strategy. And with the looming return of the estate tax, there's no time like the present to get started.

Call your financial advisor to schedule time to discuss your estate plan.

Edward Jones, its employees and financial advisors are not estate planners and cannot provide tax or legal advice. Consult a qualified tax professional or attorney for advice about your situation.
