* Your approved credit is not a commitment to loan funds. It is based on the value of your Investment account which could change daily. The amount you may be eligible to borrow may differ from your approved credit. Borrowing against securities has its risks and is not appropriate for everyone. If the value of your collateral declines, you may be required to deposit cash or additional securities, or the securities in your account may be sold to meet the margin call. The interest rate will vary depending on the amount borrowed and will begin to accrue from the date of the loan and be charged to the account. A minimum account value is required if you have loan features on your account. Call your financial advisor today.

Global Leaders May Benefit from Global Growth

With forecasts for economic growth in the U.S. of 2% to 3% (well below what was achieved in recent history), many investors may believe that by investing in U.S. stocks, they are in some way limiting the growth potential of their portfolio. As a result, some investors may be searching for a way to gain exposure to emerging and developing markets. While the most obvious way to gain this exposure is by directly investing in companies headquartered in these markets, it's not the only way.

An often overlooked way to gain exposure to emerging and developing markets is by owning large multinational companies with brands that are recognized and desired by consumers globally. While these global leaders can be found all around the world, some of the world's most recognizable and valuable brands belong to companies based in the U.S. We believe many of these companies are already positioned to benefit from growth in emerging and developing markets, and each holds the following characteristics:

- Potential for rising income
- Buy-rated by Edward Jones
- More than 40% of revenue outside the U.S.
- For those headquartered in the U.S., an S&P quality rank of A- or better

Over time, we would expect companies with a global footprint to grow faster than their domestically focused counterparts. Talk to your financial advisor about the global leaders that we recommend, which may be appropriate to add to your portfolio.

Investments in emerging or developing markets involve exposure to economic structures that are generally less diverse and mature, and to political systems that may be less stable than those of more developed countries. Securities may be less liquid and more volatile than U.S. and longer-established non-U.S. markets. Special risks are inherent to international investing, including those related to currency fluctuations and foreign political and economic events. An investment in stocks will fluctuate with changes in market conditions and may be worth more or less than the original investment when sold.
