Outlook for 2011: Not a Perfect World, but Plenty of Opportunity

Many investors start the new year by pouring over economic forecasts, searching for clues that might predict short-term market performance. While we think it's important to assess today's situation and identify probable short-term trends, those aren't likely to be the key determinants of long-term investment success.

Instead, we believe investors should prepare for good and bad times by reviewing the quality of their investments and their diversification, and then rebalancing to keep their investment mix aligned with their risk tolerance and long-term goals. We want to share with you a few questions we asked our investment strategist, Kate Warne, about the new year:

Q: What's the outlook for the economy in 2011?

A: In our view, the economy should continue on a slowly improving path in 2011, although high unemployment and weak housing are likely to remain headwinds. Overall growth in 2010 was above 2.5%, but it may have felt much slower.* These areas of weakness may have hidden three key positive trends that appear likely to stay in place in 2011:

- The effects of the 2008 financial crisis should fade as time passes, but progress is slow.
- Company profits are strong and expected to continue to grow.
- Consumers are spending more but saving more too, which is positive for today's growth.

If the economy grows more quickly than currently expected, stocks typically perform well. If it continues at a slow pace, we would expect low interest rates to continue longer.

Q: What do you see as a common risk for investors?

A: Some investors have not recovered emotionally from the 2008 financial crisis, even though their investments may have made a significant recovery. While inaction may appear "easier" than action, investors may risk missing some of the best days in the market by sitting on the sidelines.

Q: What are some of the better opportunities, in your opinion?

A: In our view, opportunities lie in dividend-paying stocks (domestic and foreign). They've historically outperformed non-dividend-paying stocks, and many are attractively priced compared to their earnings. Quality companies are expected to continue to report solid earnings growth based on modest revenue increases combined with lower operating costs achieved during the downturn.

Global Leaders May Benefit from Global Growth

With forecasts for economic growth in the U.S. of 2% to 3% (well below what was achieved in recent history), many investors may believe that by investing in U.S. stocks, they are in some way limiting the growth potential of their portfolio. As a result, some investors may be searching for a way to gain exposure to emerging and developing markets. While the most obvious way to gain this exposure is by directly investing in companies headquartered in these markets, it's not the only way.

An often overlooked way to gain exposure to emerging and developing markets is by owning large multinational companies with brands that are recognized and desired by consumers globally. While these global leaders can be found all around the world, some of the world's most recognizable and valuable brands belong to companies based in the U.S. We believe many of these companies are already positioned to benefit from growth in emerging and developing markets, and each holds the following characteristics:

- Potential for rising income
- Buy-rated by Edward Jones
- More than 40% of revenue outside the U.S.
- For those headquartered in the U.S., an S&P quality rank of A- or better

Over time, we would expect companies with a global footprint to grow faster than their domestically focused counterparts. Talk to your financial advisor about the global leaders that we recommend, which may be appropriate to add to your portfolio.

Investments in emerging or developing markets involve exposure to economic structures that are generally less diverse and mature, and to political systems that may be less stable than those of more developed countries. Securities may be less liquid and more volatile than U.S. and longer-established non-U.S. markets. Special risks are inherent to international investing, including those related to currency fluctuations and foreign political and economic events. An investment in stocks will fluctuate with changes in market conditions and may be worth more or less than the original investment when sold.

Edward Jones Receives Two Honors

We at Edward Jones are pleased to have received two recent honors, and we want to share them with you.

First, Edward Jones was honored by the DALBAR research agency for providing clients with industry-leading statements in the 13th annual "Trends and Best Practices in Investor Statements" report for brokerages. This ranking is a valuable honor for us because we devote a great deal of effort toward keeping our clients informed about their investments in a way that is clear and easy to understand. We are delighted with this recognition and are committed to continually seeking the best ways to provide understandable and useful statements.

Second, Edward Jones ranked No. 11 on FORTUNE magazine's "100 Best Companies to Work For" list for 2011. This is our 12th appearance on the annual list. We also ranked No. 2 for large-sized companies and received the highest ranking of any financial services firm on the list. We find this ranking especially gratifying because it is based on surveys of our own associates.

While we are honored by these recognitions, we view them as side benefits of the work we do to achieve our highest honor: a satisfied client. Thank you for your continued confidence in Edward Jones. We look forward to continuing to serve you.

Our Advice on Inflation

Rising prices can be concerning because you must find ways to increase your income to afford the same standard of living. But the first step is to not overreact. We believe that if you own a well-diversified portfolio of quality investments, you may not need to do anything differently because you probably have an appropriate amount of fixed income and quality dividend-paying stocks. To learn more, visit www.edwardjones.com/inflation to watch our video clip "Putting Rising Prices into Perspective."

The Market Has Recovered: What's Next?

After two years of solid market gains, you may be wondering what comes next. We believe stocks have support to rise further, but it's important to maintain realistic expectations and expect a few bumps in the time ahead. Historically, the market drops 10% about once a year, so don't be surprised. To put that into perspective, if the Dow Jones Industrial Average (Dow) is about 12,000, a 10% correction would be a 1,200-point drop. While this may seem like a significant drop, especially after the volatile times of the past few years, we don't believe it's a reason for alarm or to abandon a long-term approach.

Reasons for Optimism — While market pullbacks can occur at any time for any reason, we don't believe you should move to the sidelines or wait to invest. Instead, we recommend you:

- Consider using any broad price declines to rebalance and add attractive investments, such as quality stocks, at lower prices
- Own an appropriate mix of quality stocks and bonds, and keep a long-term perspective with realistic expectations rather than getting caught up in daily price moves

Over the long term, stocks tend to follow the growth of the economy and corporate earnings, which are improving. However, in the short term, investor emotion can heavily influence them. Currently, that pendulum has swung back from fear toward the center, as investors remain wary but are becoming anxious that they've missed out and may feel the need to be aggressive to catch up.

Since we haven't had a short-term pullback in a while, the risk has increased. However, don't ignore the good news about the strength of corporate America and the growing economy. You're likely to find that easier to do if you own a well-diversified portfolio of quality investments that include an appropriate mix of stocks and bonds. For more information on this topic, read our Market Insight report at www.edwardjones.com/market.

May is often busy with activities such as graduations and preparations for the summer months. We want to highlight May 29, which just happens to be a good calendar reminder to contribute to a 529 college savings plan. If you gift to a child's 529 plan, it may offer tax benefits for you and the beneficiary. Remember 5-29, and talk to your financial advisor about the benefits of a 529 plan for a child's future.

The amount you may be eligible to borrow may differ from your approved credit. Borrowing against securities has its risks and is not appropriate for everyone. If the value of your collateral declines, you may be required to deposit cash or additional securities, or the securities in your account may be sold to meet the margin call. The interest rate will vary depending on the amount borrowed and will begin to accrue from the date of the loan and be charged to the account. A minimum account value is required if you have loan features on your account. Call your financial advisor today.

Women Must Plan (Extra) Carefully for Retirement

Edward Jones

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

No matter what type of an investor you may be, if you're a woman, there are at least two special considerations associated with your retirement planning.

- You've got a longer life expectancy. Women typically outlive men by about seven years, according to the National Center for Health Statistics and the longer you live, the more expenses you'll have.
- You may have less money in your retirement plan. Women drop out of the workforce for an average of 12 years to care for young children or aging parents, according to the Older Women's League, a research and advocacy group. This time away from the workforce results in women accumulating much less money in their employer-sponsored retirement plans, such as 401(k)s.

Know Where You Stand

The prospect of a long, underfunded retirement is not a pleasant one. Fortunately, there's much you can do to help avoid this fate. For starters, know what's going on in your financial situation. If you're married, share the responsibility of making investment decisions. If you're working with a financial advisor, make sure you ask all the questions you can think of — and whenever you think of new questions, ask them as well.

In any case, whether you're married or single, here are some moves that can benefit you:

- "Max out" on your 401(k). If you can afford it, contribute the maximum amount to your 401(k), and if you don't contribute the maximum, increase your contributions every time your salary goes up. Your 401(k) provides you with tax-deferred earnings and a variety of investment options.
- Contribute to an IRA. Even if you have a 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan, you might be eligible to contribute to a traditional or Roth IRA. A traditional IRA offers tax-deferred earnings, while a Roth IRA grows tax free, provided you don't take withdrawals until you're at least age 59½ and you've held your account at least five years. You can fund an IRA with virtually any investment you choose.

Talk to your financial advisor today about steps you can take to help ensure a comfortable retirement.

The Foundation of a Successful Retirement

Whether you are already retired or still thinking about it, have you done everything you can to ensure you are well-prepared for that unique time of your life? If you're unsure, your Edward Jones financial advisor can help.

At Edward Jones, we believe a solid retirement plan is based on three major components:

1. Planning for the expected. This process begins with you. What is your vision of retirement? Do you see yourself remaining close to home, traveling, starting a new hobby or maybe even working part time? Based on that vision – whether you're already there or still working to get there – we can help you identify projected expenses and available resources. Using this information, you and your Edward Jones financial advisor can calculate an appropriate withdrawal rate and determine if your spending strategy is realistic. If not, you can pinpoint what trade-offs can be made to enable you to live the retirement you've envisioned.

2. Preparing for the unexpected. You and your financial advisor can examine and determine how to prepare for such retirement risks as inflation, market fluctuations, health care and living longer than you expected. This may include insuring against these risks or incorporating them into your investment strategy. For example, if short-term market declines make you uncomfortable, you may want to consider investments to better provide for your current income needs and, thereby, reduce the impact of short-term market swings on your income.

3. Positioning your portfolio for both. You and your Edward Jones financial advisor can discuss how transitioning from saving to spending in retirement affects your portfolio and examine the investment strategies you can implement to maintain the ideal balance between providing the necessary income for today with the growth needed for tomorrow.

Once you have developed a solid retirement strategy, you've taken a crucial step toward your retirement. But the process doesn't end there. Things change, even in retirement, so it's important to periodically review your portfolio and your investment strategy, especially after a major market move or a life-changing event. By doing so, you and your financial advisor can determine if you are still on track and, if not, make the necessary adjustments.

Call your financial advisor today for an appointment. He or she would be happy to meet with you to help you develop and maintain a strategy that will help fulfill your retirement expectations.

Pacing Behind, Going for Distance

Since the market bottomed in March 2009, U.S. stocks have regained much of the ground lost. Some sectors of the economy have done quite well, while others have lagged. Companies with the highest risk have seen the highest rewards. As a result, many high-quality companies have been largely ignored, and currently many of their stocks are attractively priced.

The S&P 500 Index and several of the sectors within it have posted a healthy total return during the past 24 months. Financials, consumer discretionary, industrials and materials have led the recovery. This makes sense because these outperforming sectors are most closely tied to the economy.

In addition to these cyclical companies, companies with high credit risk during the financial crisis have also been strong performers since the market bottom. These areas of outperformance follow the typical pattern we see in the early stages of an economic recovery, when fiscal policy focuses on stimulating growth and easing the supply of credit. Looking forward, we believe policy shifts may stir a change in investor mind-set.

Pacers: Consistency and Quality Should Be Rewarded

When considering how to invest today, we believe you should look forward, not in the rearview mirror chasing what has already outperformed. As the U.S. economy continues to gain steam, it solidifies the notion that the recovery is real. A healthier economy also calls for a shift in economic policy that tends to favor companies with high and consistent return potential.

Utility, health care, communications and consumer staples stocks have been left behind during the past two years. We think it makes sense to start looking here for high-quality companies at attractive valuations. Regardless of sector, we recommend taking a closer look at the quality companies with stock performance that have been trailing behind. We believe these even-paced stocks deserve more attention.

Riskier investments tend to do well when the economy starts to recover, but they can't maintain that pace forever. We believe it's a better strategy to consider higher-quality companies that have attractive valuation. Now is a good time to meet with your financial advisor to help ensure you don't have too much risk in your portfolio and to work to regain the right balance for you.

If you have long-term goals, you need a long-term strategy – and that means don't chase yesterday's winners but instead equip your portfolio with a strategy designed to go the distance. (Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. An investment in stocks will fluctuate with changes in market conditions and may be worth more or less than the original investment when sold.)

Why Do Investors Care about the Dollar?

Edward Jones

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

For most people, the value of the dollar isn't how many euros or yen it equals - it's what goods and services a dollar can buy at the store. When prices rise, effectively reducing the value of the dollars we spend, we call it inflation. For investors focused on retirement, typical goals may include having enough money to live comfortably and leaving an inheritance. But even low inflation rates erode the value of a dollar over time. This is why we suggest owning investments that have the potential for rising income to help afford rising prices.

But a falling dollar doesn't usually result in higher inflation. Certainly, foreign travel and imported wines become more expensive, for example, but they're not big items in most budgets. More importantly, people tend to switch to alternatives rather than pay higher prices. In our view, the rise or fall of the dollar over time isn't likely to be a significant source of higher inflation.

The Ups and Downs of the Dollar

Most people pay little attention to the changing value of the dollar in foreign currencies, and in the short term it's nearly impossible to predict. But the dollar's decline over the past decade has raised concerns. When it comes to your investments, we believe the changing value of the dollar can matter in three main ways:

- The value of the international investments you own tends to benefit when the dollar declines.
- U.S. company earnings can be helped or hurt, depending on the business.
- Oil and other commodity prices tend to rise when the dollar declines, since many are priced in dollars.

Fortunately, you don't need to be a currency expert or even understand all of the reasons why the dollar's value changes to build a portfolio that's prepared for the varying value of the dollar.

Don't Let Currency Cloud Your Conviction

The value of the dollar in foreign currencies has always fluctuated, sometimes widely. As a result, we don't believe you should base your investment decisions on what you think the dollar will do. Talk with your financial advisor about ways to help position your portfolio for the changing value of the dollar.

Past performance does not guarantee future results. Diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss. Special risks are inherent to international investing, including those related to currency fluctuations and foreign political and economic events. Investors should make investment decisions based on their unique investment objectives, risk tolerance and financial situation.

Social Security: The Cost of Early Withdrawals

According to the Social Security Administration, nearly 74% of all retired workers begin taking Social Security benefits before full retirement age. If you're tempted to do so based solely on short-term fears about the future of Social Security, it's important to realize the long-term consequences. Claiming Social Security early can reduce future payments by as much as 25%. Your financial advisor may be able to offer some alternative scenarios that may help you delay claiming your Social Security benefits. Contact him or her today.

Stock Market Perspective

The first half of 2011 has been a roller-coaster ride for investors. Gross domestic product (GDP) reports showed that economic growth was weaker than anticipated in the first half of the year, but importantly, the economy is still growing. We also watched news unfold on topics, including the debt ceiling, S&P's downgrade of the U.S. credit rating to AA+ and renewed European debt issues. All of these events made August a particularly volatile month in the markets. The economic recovery is progressing, but growth is likely to be slower than most would hope for. The market's roller-coaster ride may continue in the near term, but we believe improving economic fundamentals and healthy corporate profits are reasons to look forward to the ups and not be so fearful of the downs.

A Bright Spot in Corporate Earnings

While slow economic growth is certainly disappointing, it can provide a positive environment for investors. Second-quarter corporate earnings are up more than 10% over the past year. In addition, at the end of July, 73% of the companies that had reported earnings had exceeded expectations. Although companies in the S&P 500 are on track to reach new record high earnings in the second half of the year, their prices haven't kept pace. As a result, we believe many quality companies are attractively valued.

Invest in Your Strategy, Not Your Emotions

While market fluctuations are unsettling, market declines are common and can even be used as an opportunity to add quality investments that fit well with your portfolio and will help work toward your long-range goals. After all, investing isn't about buying when you feel good and selling when you feel bad. It's about developing and following a solid strategy that addresses your needs today and your goals for the future. It can be tempting to abandon your investment strategy when the market is down, but we believe that doing so can be a costly mistake. It all boils down to one simple fact: You can't control the market or the economy, but you can control how you react to them.

Edward Jones Is Here to Help

That's where Edward Jones can help. If you find yourself considering changes to your investments based solely on recent headlines or market performance, contact your Edward Jones financial advisor. He or she can review your portfolio and provide a fresh perspective of where you are today and if you're still on track to reach your goals based not on what happened last week or last month but on longer-term trends in the market. In the end, we believe that these trends will ultimately matter more than the market's short-term ups and downs.

Remember, your Edward Jones financial advisor is there to help and to answer any questions and address any concerns you have regarding your investments. Don't hesitate to contact him or her.

Navigating the Current Volatility: Six Steps to Stay on Course

There's no question that the environment we're now experiencing can be unnerving, but it's good to remember that it's not unusual. Volatility is fairly common within market cycles, and while we believe we will probably see volatility persist in the near term, there are plenty of reasons for investors to be positive about the long term. That's what we believe you should focus on.

In the meantime, here are six steps to help you stay on course in today's market;

1. Recognize what's causing the volatility.

If there's one thing markets don't like, it's uncertainty. The economy - both in the United States and around the world - is sluggish, sparking concerns over the future pace of growth and the potential for another recession. The European debt concerns and the S&P downgrade of U.S. debt, although no longer making headlines, have cast uncertainty concerning the market.

2. Focus on fundamentals.

Fundamentals drive the markets over time. As you've probably heard from us before, 2011 isn't 2008. We don't think we're headed into another severe recession. The economy is still growing, albeit slowly, unlike the contraction we saw in 2008. In addition, we're adding jobs, not losing them as in 2008. Corporate balance sheets are much healthier, interest rates are low, and dropping oil prices have provided consumers with much-needed relief. These factors may not be capable of kick-starting the economy into rapid growth but can, in our view, enable the economy to grow at a sluggish pace.

3. Don't overreact.

Volatility is normal, so don't overreact. As measured by the S&P 500, the stock market, although down roughly 15% from its 2011 high, is still up more than 75% from its March 2009 low. Also, historically speaking, market corrections of 10% occur typically once per year and last an average of four months, so this isn't a new environment.* A short-term correction, in our opinion, is no reason to abandon your long-term investment strategy.

4. Keep your perspective.

When you look at the market on a short-term basis, it's easy to get caught up in its day-to-day movements. But you probably aren't saving for tomorrow or even for the next day - you're saving for long-term financial goals. It's important to maintain that perspective looking forward.

5. Keep your balance.

We believe a portfolio of quality investments and a long-term focus is an effective strategy to help you work toward your goals. Make sure your portfolio is aligned and appropriately balanced relative to your long-term goals, not relative to near-term volatility. That includes maintaining the proper diversification. Although diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss, we do think it is a good strategy for weathering market volatility.

6. Look for opportunities.

Investing is a marathon, not a sprint. Today's market does provide some attractive investment opportunities. If you are interested in learning more about these opportunities, contact your financial advisor.

Investment Rules of the Road

Most investors make their money over time, not overnight. And while investment strategies differ, successful investors seem to follow the same basic set of guidelines. At Edward Jones, we call these guidelines the "Rules of the Road." The first rule is to develop a strategy based on your financial needs and goals. To learn the other nine rules, visit www.edwardjones.com/rules or contact your financial advisor.
