It's me again. Carl is still in ICU all hooked with tubes, IV, etc. They finally found a massive infection in his lungs and are draiing it. He was running a fever and I guess the infections was the cause. But his fever is coming down and his blood pressure is sstablizing so that's good news. Tino, one of Daddy's caregivers stayed with him last night and will again tonight. That's such a big help! It's still hot and humid here. We're supposed to get more rain tomorrow. The lawn mowers weren't able to mow Fri. so I can almost bale hay in the front yard. I sure hope they come today!!!!!!!

--- On Mon, 7/5/10, Candace Curtis *<occurtis@sbcglobal.net> wrote:

> From: Candace Curtis <occurtis@sbcglobal.net>
> Subject: Re:
> To: "Nelva Brunsting" <elmernelva@sbcglobal.net>
> Date: Monday, July 5, 2010, 9:55 PM
>
> Hi,
>
> Thanks for the update. I can't imagine what Drina must be going through. Thanks for the voice message update.
>
> Love you,
>
> C
>
> --- On Mon, 7/5/10, Nelva Brunsting *<elmernelva@sbcglobal.net> wrote:
>
>> From: Nelva Brunsting <elmernelva@sbcglobal.net>
>> Subject:
>> To: "Candy Curtis" <occurtis@sbcglobal.net>
>> Date: Monday, July 5, 2010, 4:29 PM
>>
>> Hi: I just wanted to tell you they still don't know what caused Carl's stroke. They' >> re doing all kinds of testing on him even for lymes desease. He's been running a temp so something is causing it. They ruled out a small hole in the heart. Carol said she and Drina couldn't wake him ealier in the day but thought he was just worn out and probably because of some of the medications they've given him. They were going down later this afternoon and try again. We may and try to get Tino (one of Daddy's caregivers to stay with him at night. He was a Navy corpsman and nurses know he knows his stuff. It's hot and humid and raining at times. Very spotty today. The grass is so long it's looking shaggy outside. I thought the lawmowers would come today but they haven't showed up.